

ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME...

There is a far greater reality than the one I have created here in time. There are so many things to factor in when I consider what all went into the creating of this illusion. As a soul I am a child of Infinite Creative Intelligence.

My power to create is unlimited. The Father and I are one, never two. As a soul, Eternity is my Father. But before I was created a soul, I the Absolute dwelled alone in the void. I was alone and the potential Father of a creation that I had yet to bring forth. Is there any other but me? I know of no other. If there were others, it would change nothing, for there still would be only one, and I would be that one that appeared as all other persons, places, and things.

The sound mind is always clear. It knows there has always been only one; there could never be more than one. I am that one. What is true of me now, has forever throughout all eternity always been true. I cannot create except I create more of what I am. Not even I could ever break the law of one.

Perhaps I came forth as many souls when my rate of vibration shifted to a lower rate due to loneliness and boredom. This lowering of my rate of vibration was the result of my growing desire to express in greater magnitude. This required contrast, that which I as soul came to know and experience as good and evil. That which I eventually became... you know as man.

To the human mind, I and my creation are a mystery. This was my intent when I became the many, to forget and to become totally lost within all of my illusions. As I reveal these things to you, I'm relating your own experience. For you and I are not separate, but we one. Because as soul, you issued forth from out of my heart just as Eve came forth out of Adam, you were me, even before you were created as soul from my fall into matter.

Creation is no more and no less a multiplication of my substance, my spirit, my very being. Becoming lost in the maze of this illusion was exciting, but totally without risk. Remember, all I say here, I say of you. Deep, very, very deep within you, as spirit, I am there. The soul that you are is me/spirit at a lower vibration. Within you, within your soul, which is also my soul, I am there.

It is I, that spirit within you that has the ability to forget by plunging into the illusion created by the lowering of my vibration that resulted in my fall into matter. Because as soul, you and I are evolving and at some point we will become totally the same, yet different then before. You will have by then became spirit. You are even now ever so slowly changing from soul to spirit. You will gradually mutate into pure spirit. You will be lost in me and found at the same time.

So to be lost in me is to become what we have always been, but so very much more. Every single experience that we have ever had, in all the many incarnations we have known, has resulted in our expansion. Expansion in joy, expansion in peace, expansion in knowledge beyond you ability to describe. You will at some point discover that you now walk in heavenly realms right here on this earth. That it has always been that to you, but you were unable to see it.

To many, I have been able to reveal that Heaven has never been a geographical place, but a state of mind or consciousness. Heaven is here and now. It has always been that way. Hell is here and now, they are both two extremes, two states of mind... two states of consciousness. They are only a matter of your vibration rate. I said Heaven and Hell are not a place but a state of mind. Yet they are real and in a real sense, they are places, but they are places in Consciousness that you create.

In Consciousness there are infinite numbers of places. Heaven and Hell are two extreme modes of Consciousness, with many degrees, or levels of consciousness between the two. To the degree man is separated from me in his mind, to that degree Hell becomes his experience. All is well however. I know how to bring all my souls back into harmony with me and be assured of this, I will ultimately do so.

My spirit within the soul of the man in the deepest Hell when it's time, will stir until it leads him out and up as I the light shine within the darkness, and his Hell is changed into Heaven. It is I, who've animated all those who appeared as a savior to point the wayward soul back to the path. The sacrifice of Calvary was to bring back man and deliver him from an evil conscience.

There is however a far brighter vision that I would speak of now. I say again, what appears as evil, is that which reveals the good. I come into flesh forgetting totally who I am and forgetting any prior existence before my physical birth, because without my forgetfulness I would experience no contrast/good & evil, and without contrast I could not expand through the experiences that contrast gives me.

Your expansion is my expansion for I am the one spirit that has lowered it's vibration that resulted in it becoming your soul which is your unique eternal individual identity and another unique expression of that which I am. "All roads lead to Rome." I am within every soul and each one will return to his home along his own unique way that he alone has created.

No two paths back to me are exactly the same. This is for greater experience and expansion. As the soul gets closer to it's destination it comes to realize that every path is sacred and ordained of me. It at some point will also realize that the joy is found in the journey, not the destination. The soul who is closer to home, sees all things as one, and knows there is only one will, that no one can possibly ever be against my will, therefore it is at peace with all who seem different.

I am the sovereign one who works all things after the council of my own will. I am in you, I am in the stone. I am appearing as all things, man being my prize expression here in this plane of consciousness. Even though religion has been corrupted, it is one of the ways of reaching the three dimensional/five sense man. I inspire them all, for I would reach all, and will. No one can resist my will for I have given them total freedom to discover who they are. So remember,

All roads lead to Rome.

BACK TO HOME PAGE