

HOW MANY WILLS ARE THERE...?

Do I really know what it means when I agree that God is sovereign? Have I seen that there is only one spirit and one Mind? Have I seen that what I think of as the "human" mind is only the use I make out of the one Mind? Have I seen that Gods will is the only will there is? Does this mean that I really do not have free will? If one day the blinding light of revelation visits me and I then see that nothing exists but I, it is then that one door of revelation after another will open before me and question after question will be answered.

There is a reason why God is sovereign... it is because it's all God! There is a reason why God is omnipresence... because he appears as all forms and is the life of all forms. It's all God. He is your life, he is my life, he is the life of the beetle, the ant, the amoeba, Etc. All is the life of God. Absolutely speaking there is not Gods life and mans life, and animal life and plant life, etc, there is just life, and life is God.

As for resisting Gods will, if we could really do this absolutely, then that would mean that there is more than one in creation. Everything is perfect in Gods creation, and nothing is going contrary to the will of God. that is an impossibility. God has created man, then left him alone to discover all that he is as a child of the infinite and an extension of what he is. His creation is perfect; because he is. There are no accidents, and no victims.

This is a hard saying for many of us. If in creating me, God decided that he would give me free will to follow any path I chose to follow how then could "my will" ever possibly go contrary to his? My will could never run contrary to his, simply because the two are one. As a matter of fact my so called "free will" came with my birth as a soul which is spirit stepped down. There is one spirit and all of creation is extensions and manifestations of it.

If there is more than one in creation then there is of course more than one will. There needs to come more light, and when it comes, little by little I see from a higher vantage point. What appears to be tragic today will someday be seen as stepping stones to tomorrow's single vision and a better understanding? In this universe there are spiritual laws. These laws work twenty four seven. One of them is known as the Law of Attraction.

This law is responsible for most of the teachings concerning karma. Paul spoke of the law of sowing and reaping. This law is also what is known as karma. The Law of Attraction, karma, and the law of sowing and reaping are all one and the same. Whether I see this law as karma, sowing and reaping, or the Law of Attraction, it is spiritual law that works according to my vibrational offerings.

"What you resist persists". Resistance activates this law. I find then a law brethren..."When I would do good, evil is present with me," {Romans 7:21,} activates this law. Paul come to his end as he discovered that the harder he tried to live what in his mind was Gods expectations for man; the more this law rose up to defeat him. To him it was "the law of sin and death," actually it was the Law of Attraction that he was activating as a result of attempting to be what he already was through his resistance to what he perceived as against Gods will.

We are already a perfect creation of what...? Of God! What else could we possibly be? There is nothing else that God could possibly create but more of what God is. Where would God get the material to build it with if it is not the essence of spirit? The forms are infinite in number but the essence is without fail... always spirit. I personally as a new convert to Christianity, almost drove myself insane in my attempt to live what I was taught God expected of me. One day as I read Romans seven for about the ten millionth time I got a flash of light! I was reading where Paul said "I find then law brethren, that... when I would do good... evil is present with me".

Suddenly it hit me... ok then I said, I'm all through trying to behave. Finally I saw it; I'll paraphrase the verse here to bring out more clearly what I was hearing. So...brethren... I have discovered a law, and this law works 24/7. It's like this... every time I attempt to keep the law... every time I try to stop sinning I have discovered something. I have discovered a law that says that the minute I try to be good, evil rises up and overcomes me.

That day I saw it! I saw that letting go and letting God took naked faith. I made a quality decision that day that I would not resist the temptations. Either God would come in, or I was going to hell in a hand basket, but I was not doing the Christian sweat life anymore! That decision brought salvation in a way that still blows me out of the water.

I cannot defeat this ghost I have created called sin, because, by resisting it I only strengthen it by my insistence that it is a reality. It's not an absolute reality. It is very real to the third density consciousness, it's quite real in the Adamic dream, but only the kingdom is real, nothing else exists. This may sound cold and I do not mean it that way but deal with it! I am still very much caught in the illusion of good and evil and two powers if I spend one second stewing and fretting over what my mind tells me is evil.

So light is coming to all who are ready for it in this age. We have been fed some erroneous information from sources we trusted, and that's not all bad, because before I know the truth, I must exhaust the lie, and before I can know what God is, I must first learn what God is not, and that my friend is all about the principle of Romans chapter seven. In this dream which appears quite real to me, there are many souls, many spirits, and many individuals all separate from me.

In absolute truth however, there is only ONE! in Ephesians Paul writes to the church telling them there is "one body, and one spirit, even as ye are called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all, who is above all, through you all, And in you all. And I might add...is now appearing as you all. So there is only one in existence and this ONE "works all things after the council of his own will". If this is true and it would have to be... then there would be only one will that has ever existed and that would be Gods.
