

LET GO AND LET GOD...

I have often in my past heard church leaders comment on sin by saying that we just need to “Let go and let God”. This used to baffle me. I would hear this and think, “OH sure, if I was to let go and let God, my flesh would go bananas and I’d go to hell in a hand basket”. Since then, I’ve discovered a very strange thing. Because the time come when the Romans chapter seven experience had worn me out and I eventually just gave up and stopped fighting this that man calls sin.

Here is where my help came from. Number one, I came to realize that resisting evil is exactly the very thing that gives it power. This was always what I got from the seventh chapter of Romans. I would read this chapter, but in spite of all the many times I did, I didn’t get it. Then one day it hit me quite hard right between the eyes. I came to where it said, “I find then a law brethren, that when I would do good, evil is present with me”.

Paul was saying “Hey guys, this thing that I’m talking about here is a law. This law works exactly like the law of gravity in that it works whether you’re in Rome or outer Magnolia, it works no matter where you go and it works only and every time you activate it as a result of your attempt to please God. Give it up! You are resisting evil. When you do that, you empower it, and the more you resist it the more power you give it over you”.

It was then I saw it. All I had to do was to stop attempting to behave, because in my very attempt to please God I was activating the law that Paul called sin. That was one thing. There’s more! One must come to see what shakesphere must have known when he said, “Nothing is evil but thinking makes it so”. So... I discovered that what I label “sin” is wholly a matter of perception. Hebrews speaks of having our hearts “sprinkled from and evil conscience”.

It also says, “We should have no more conscience of sin. I had such a horrific problem with these scriptures. They sounded wonderful but they just didn’t seem to work for me. I went for years in sin consciousness because I had one big blind spot. The day came, however when light revealed the problem. It came to me progressively over time but I saw that God knows nothing of Sin. I believe I first read this from one of Joel goldsmith’s books. I used to wear his books out. I knew then that Joel was right, I just could not figure out how it all worked.

Today I’m very grateful to realize that sin, as well as beau, is in the eye of the beholder. Today I’ll proclaim with many others who have said it. Sin is nothing more then a perception and it's a distorted one at that. When ones eyes are open to this truth, they can no longer be condemned or suffer guilt. Blinding light is coming very rapidly to the planet. The church, or rather the man controlled institution we've been led to believe is the church was primarily that which enforced the sin consciousness in our mind.

The renewing of the mind is our salvation from sin consciousness. I do realize that when you speak of sin as I have here, you open yourself for the accusation of teaching a license to sin. For the man who would accuse me of this he doesn't need a license. "Blessed is the man who does not condemn himself in that which he alloweth".
