

CAN ALL BE HEALED?

CAN ALL BE HEALED?

Whether we are asking about “all” disease, or “all” people being healed really isn’t the point. Unfortunately it becomes the focal point of the argument against “faith” or “spiritual” healing. Because the scope of my writings centers around the promises made by Jesus relative to any individual who believes in him being able to perform the same miracles that he performed, and I also write about the fact that I decided to put these promises to the “test” by following what I refer to as Jesus’ “formula” or “instructions” for getting to the point of being able to do what he did... some get agitated by such a message and bring up examples of non-healing.

One recent one was a man that gave up his formal church ministry because he had become deaf. He was urged by friends to go to a Kathryn Kuhlman meeting... which he attended “full of faith” and was not healed.

At no time have I ever urged anyone to go to anyone with a healing “ministry” or a “deliverance” ministry. I am most certainly not opposed to such “ministries,” but Jesus said anyone that believes can do what he did. Therefore, if I happen to have a “ministry” it is merely reiterating what Jesus said and pointing to his instructions about how to obtain the “faith,” “authority,” and understanding to be able to do what Jesus did on this planet as a man.

What sometimes gets missed is the fact that Jesus did NOT do these things. This according to his own words. “It is not I that performs the miracles... it is the Father in me that performs them.” Therefore, if we are to be like Jesus... “we” don’t do anything... the Father in us does it. Therefore I refuse to call it a ministry... when any believer can do it... if he or she will follow the instructions that Jesus provided.

Also, there are myriad reasons why someone does not get “healed” or “delivered.” Should that stop us from pursuing what Jesus said would be the norm among those who believe? I think not.

I want to be perfectly clear in this... I am not saying all will be healed. I am saying that those who take Jesus’ instructions seriously... and do what he said to do to get this “faith” for healing... to the point that they actually receive this faith... will receive it.

I am saying that I have personally seen all sorts of diseases healed. Cancer, diabetes, arthritis, asthma, epilepsy, scoliosis to name just a few. I am saying that if you follow the same instructions provided by Jesus to get this kind of faith... you too will see these diseases and their causes leave.
