

YOU ARE STARTING TO REMEMBER.....

Have I Seen Who I am...?

God created, and is creating {through you and me} a perfect universe. In time, creation is an ongoing thing. The absolute truth is, all is a finished product. We are being saved in time. In the absolute our salvation is accomplished. I want to share these things keeping what I say mostly in the concept of time. Many would say that we suffer from the illusion that we have created. This is certainly true from the egos point of view. Actually what to my ego is suffering, to the real me, what we call suffering and good times are all the same. The I am cannot be effected adversely regardless of any circumstances the ego has created. My salvation consists of my mind being renewed.

As this occurs, I the ego, merge with the I am that I am. We as Christians have been taught that we are born a sinner. Actually, this is true, but what is a sinner? A sinner is defined in our bible as someone who has missed the mark. In Romans, Paul wrote, "All have sinned and come short of the glory of God" I believe a better translation would be, "all sin until saved." We have in a sense, defined sin to mean missing Gods glory. Now we have to define the "glory." Glory is God's expression. What is God's expression here in this dream? It is basically love, not without ego, but through the ego that has been transformed by the renewing of my mind. What I see is what I get, and what I get will result in my expression.

Salvation from the illusion is salvation from the big lie. What lie...? The lie that constitutes the human mind that says God and I are separate beings. Jesus Christ obviously come to know who he was. We have not, but we are getting there one step at a time. God is consciousness, God is mind. God is all there is, but for now we'll just use these two terms to speak of God. As man we are Gods offspring, so we as extensions of the one are obviously consciousness also. We not only have by the life law the ability to create, but we cannot cease from creating. How do I create? I create the same way that which created me does. By my thoughts.

If I could stop thinking, I would stop creating, but I cannot. Now... how I see life in general determines what I create. My creations are determined by the vision I hold in my mind concerning God and I. do I see God and I as one? And how clear is what I see? I can somewhat know this by observing what my life is like. If I have seen just a small vision of who I am, I will never suffer from any condemnation. So... whatever I believe becomes my reality. If I believe that I'm a sinner whatever this means to me, then that belief alone constitutes me that. Man is separated from God nowhere else but in his mind. In absolute truth, no one can ever be separate from the I am, yet if I see me as separate, then I am, but only in my experience in the illusion that I create, not in truth, not in reality.

The reason why I seem to have so much trouble in appropriating promises in the bible is because in my subconscious are noxious weeds growing that the Creator did not plant. Much of what I'm sharing here is negative because I'm coming from the egos point of view. In truth, this illusion is resulting in the Son arising from within humanity. All through the scriptures there is revealed the truth concerning the I am appearing as man. The age is here when more of us are developing the eyes to see it.

Mark 11:23-24 says, "Verily, verily I say unto thee, whosoever shall say unto this mountain, be thou removed and be thou cast into the sea, and shall not doubt in his heart but shall believe that those things which he sayeth shall come to pass, he shall have whatsoever he sayeth."

The reason why I so often fail to move my mountain is because Even though this scripture verse tells me who I am, I have not seen it. I put all my attention on getting the mountain moved, but miss the point and so the mountain doesn't move. I will not be moving very many mountains until I truly see what this verse and verses like it are telling me. I am the offspring of the infinite. I am spirit. To see this will open many doors and answer every question. Our God is waiting for us to come to the knowledge of the truth. This knowledge of God reveals to us that we are infinite and without limitations. Limitations exist only in the mind of old sleeping Adam. There is one Mind, and we all think into it.

What man thinks of as his mind is simply the use he is making of the one. When light comes it obliterates the human mind. What's left is that which was there all along, the same mind that was in Christ Jesus. I am a hybrid. I straddle two realities. This lesser one and the greater one. The greater one being the kingdom of God. The lesser one is this dream. Man is perfect now! He's never been anything else! For me to say that he is not is to sin {miss}. The worst thing that I can do from the Divine point of view is to simply miss the mark, and we all do that. In that sense only... am I a sinner. The crucifixion of the man Jesus and the story concerning it, the gospel if you will is the greatest story ever told, because it directly attacks the sin consciousness of man and the ultimate result will be the renewed mind.

The first thing that the Holy Spirit must do is free me from sin consciousness. The ultimate end of that freedom is to come into the revelation of Jesus Christ. This revelation is not, and never was about who he is but about who I am. His mission was never strictly speaking, to reveal who he was, but who I am. Christianity has totally missed the point! Every master who ever walked this planet had one mission. That mission was to reveal to me who I am. This revelation will one day result in all men loving one another. I will never know the real experience of loving my neighbor as myself until I see him as myself. This will be when this little ego will be swallowed up in the I am.

This reality is the illusion that is giving God the experience of life as flesh. This was the purpose of creation. God wanted to know the love of a woman and the love of a man, the love of fathers and mothers,. He wanted to experience life in this dimension that is created by forgetting. He wanted this wonderful life in flesh so he could experience all that he is. For this purpose God must enter into forgetfulness. It would not work should he become man who possessed the knowledge from the beginning. Our forgetfulness is a blessing that is yielding greater and greater experience and that means expansion in consciousness.

You would not be reading things like this except for the fact that you are starting to remember. Your hunger is causing you to stir, and this is the experience that will result in your awakening.
